CHARITY HOSPITAL SCHOOL OF NURSING

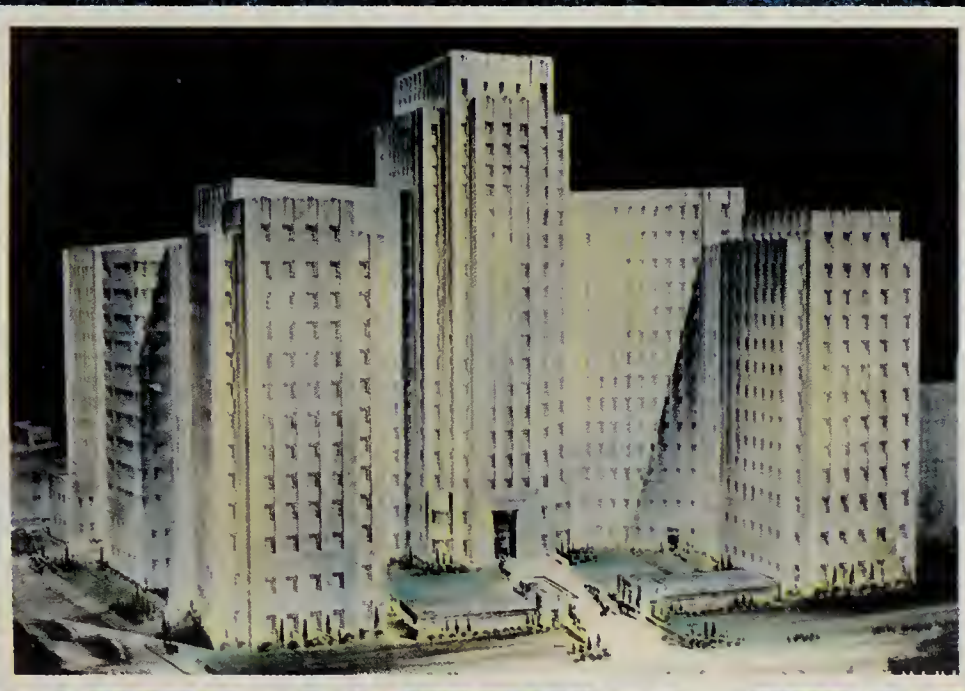

*Charity Hospital
School of Nursing
The Legend Lives On...*

Charity Hospital School of Nursing was established in 1894, through the cooperative efforts of the Board of Administrators of Charity Hospital of New Orleans and the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul.

Eleven students enrolled in 1894 for the first course which was for a period of two years. In 1912, the course was increased to two and one half years, and in 1915 the program began it's three year diploma curriculum which was based on the Nightingale concept of nursing.

Charity Hospital School of Nursing has consistently graduated excellent nurses prepared to assume first level staff nurse positions in hospitals and similar community agencies. Charity graduates are currently employed in all fields of nursing in every state and many foreign countries.

In Charity Hospital School of Nursing's ninety eight years of existence, it has seen 6274 graduates pass through it's doors. On May 15, 1992 Charity graduated the last class of diploma students and thus turns a page in history as it begins a new two year associate degree nursing program.

Student Life

The beat goes on . . .

The Good Life!

The C-DSN crew party hardy at Nicks.

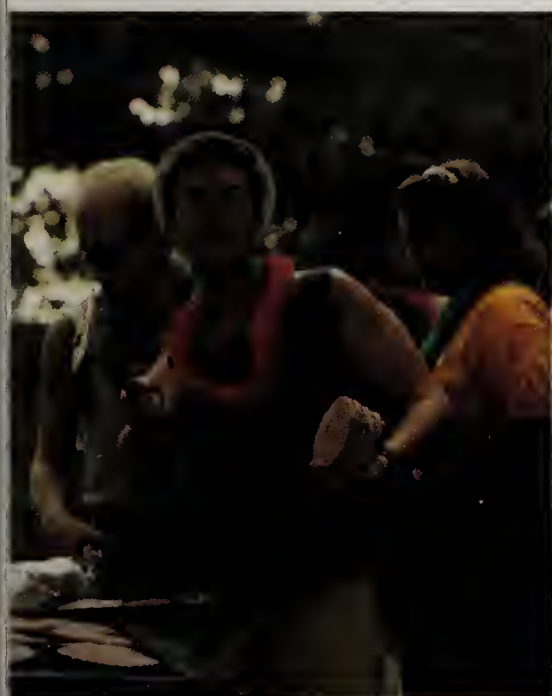

Hey Elmo Ancar, just what exactly do you think you're doing with that whipped cream?!

Michele Keith experiences the true meaning of Christmas as she shares a hug with a special loved one.

Ms. Cooper proudly accepts a lovely clock from SGA at the Christmas party.

Josh Torregano tells his Christmas wishes to Santa.

Suzanne Sinclair and Charles del Marmol meet their RDA of cholesterol at the Back to School party.

After a long school day, hamburgers taste like steaks at the Back to School party.

D.J. Price gains valuable vocational skills as he artfully flips burgers.

Barry Sykes and Andrea Thibodeaux show they are First Class when it comes to partying.

Santa Claus gains these youngster's attention as he makes his appearance at the Christmas party.

Dorm Life

Our unjustly underrated "guitarman", Barry Sykes.

"Hi, ho! Hi, ho! It's off to the library I go," sings Roy Duthu.

"This is the 3rd floor."

Shane Robichaux studying hard, as usual.

Carol Claverie gets packed up for the weekend.

"DIS DA TERD FLO"

Rhonda Robin prepares for the next clinical day with great enthusiasm.

Time out for a break with "da girls."

Colette Badeaux discusses her plans for graduation day with Mrs. Norman.

Lisa Chan smiles beautifully when caught by our photographer in the stairway.

Judy Rodriguez and Natalie Breaux show off their "works of art" for Christmas.

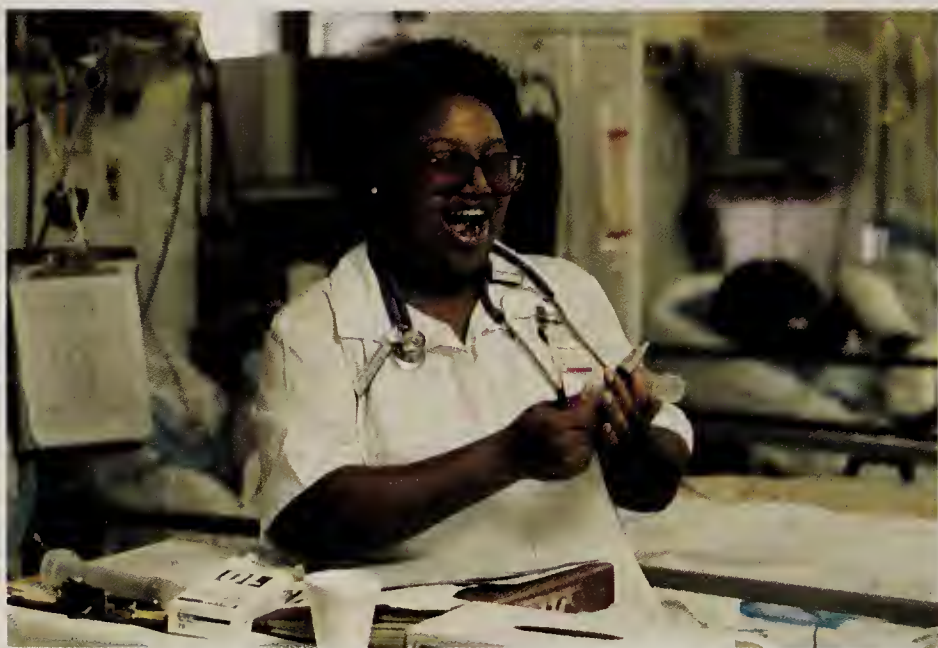

NEX Life

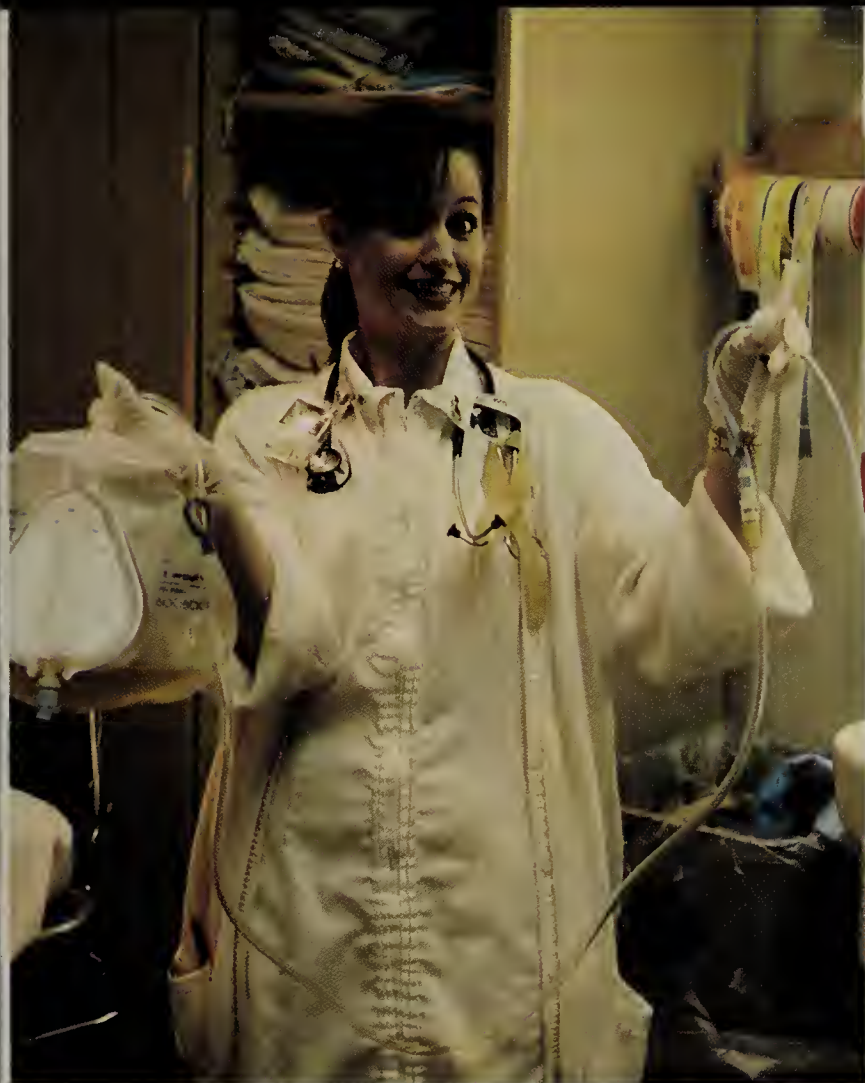

There are a lot of smiles from Ms. Schaff's clinical group . . . It must be the end of the day!

"Thump, thump, thump . . . no bubbles in my IVP!" says Davina Patterson.

"Uh-huh, mmm, yeah-right!" says Hugh Turk as he studies his meds.

Diep Tran feels confident after she makes her chart check.

Monica Roberson performs the "D/C Foley two-step shuffle" with grace and a big smile on her face in Charity's ER.

Gwen Boudreaux maintains universal precautions as she cares for her patient in SICA.

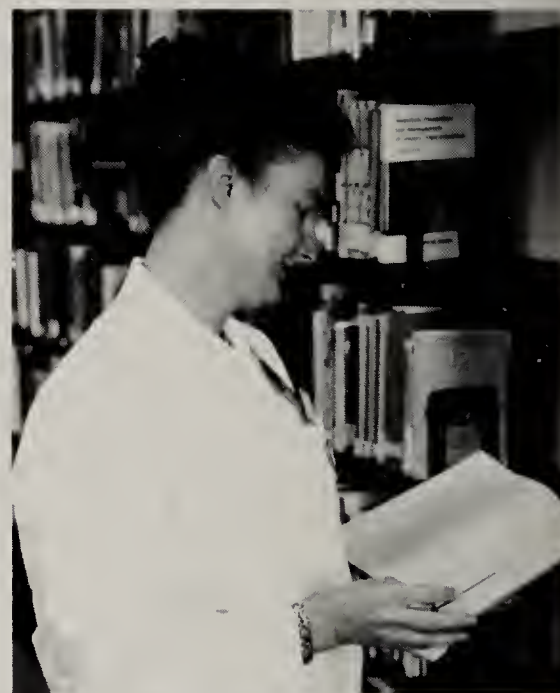

A "cast" of characters make up Ms. Anderson's clinical group.

Phyllis Bowen skillfully prepares an IV piggyback in Recovery.

Donna Scherren, Becky Thomas and Cynthia Babin are caught deep in thought as they go about their day at Slidell Memorial Hospital.

NO Life!

Patricia Haskins, Kim Adams, Scott King, Sherri Adams and Rhonda Robin wonder if there really is life after nursing school.

Marilyn Doty reads at the speed of light to be prepared for her upcoming agency visit.

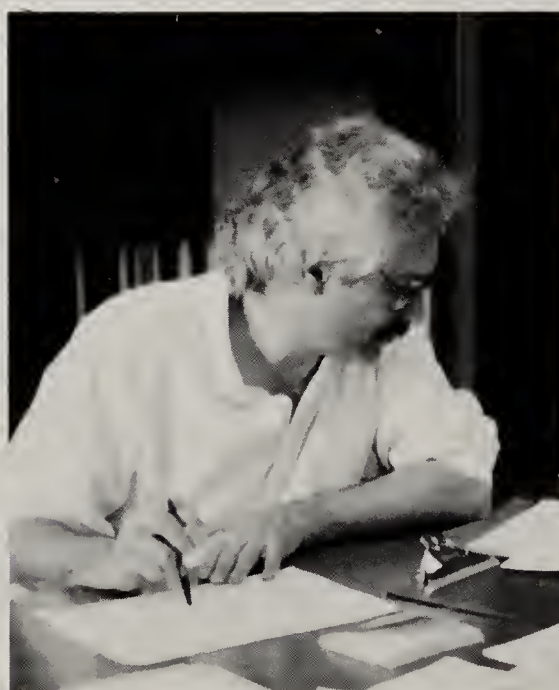

Gail Jones, Terry Lacoste, Wendy Degruy, and Christine Collier wait to see yet another film in A-V.

Paul Aitken finds himself calling the reference room his home away from home.

The camera catches a rare glimpse of this poor abused copier taking a rest.

Joni Champagne stays so busy studying after clinical that she forgets to lose the cap.

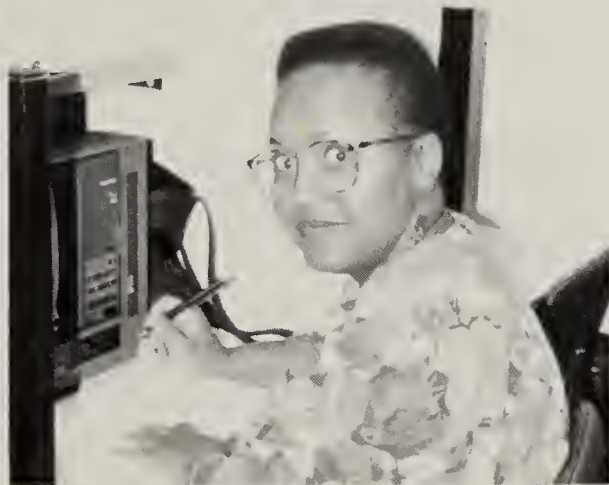

Lorain Schexnaydre, Angela Gross, Dee Baxter, and Lourdes Figueredo take a few seconds to relax.

Cheri Joffary, Lyn Willis, and Walter Stevens feel like they're doing the paper chase in Community.

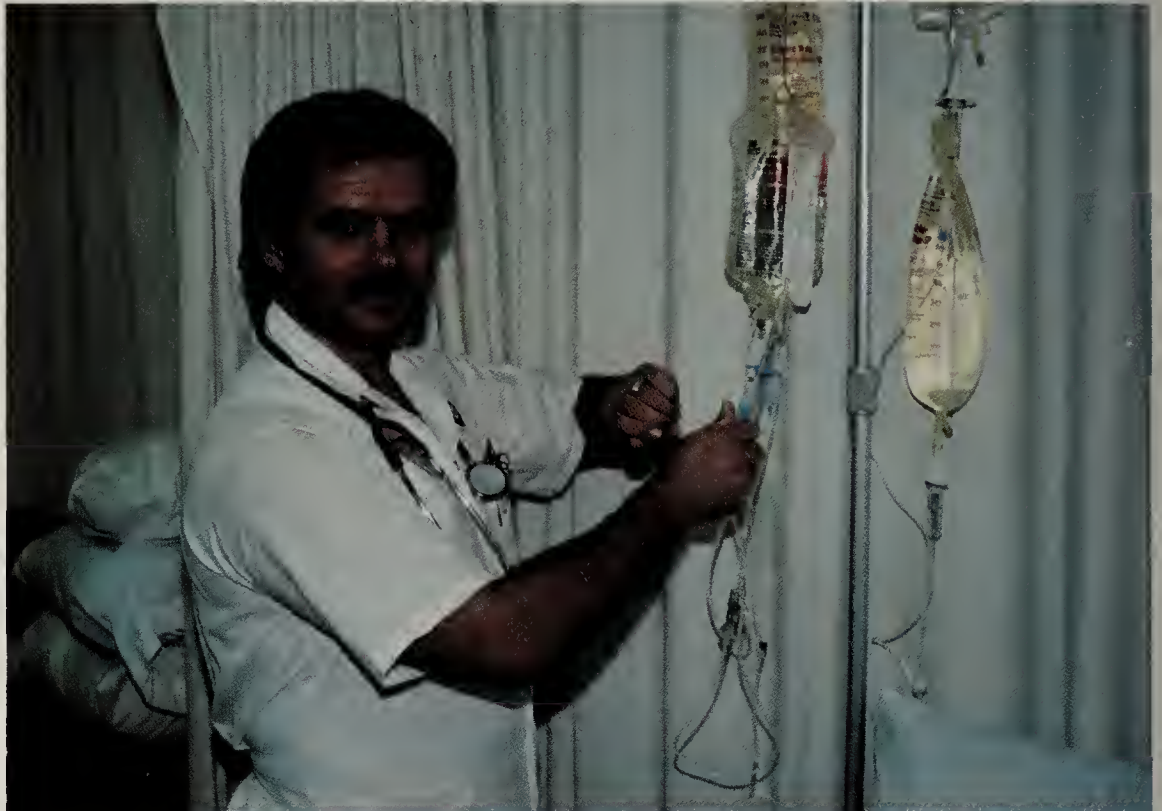

Marcia Richards thought she knew what eye strain was until she enrolled in Charity's nursing program.

Annette May reviews her list of "Things to do" for tomorrow.

Second Life

Honestly, nursing was not on my career list after high school. I spent a year in college, 4 years in an oil company lab, 3½ years in my own music business, and 3 years working as an electrician. It was time to consider my future. A friend at CHSN told me how great nursing was. He said it was rewarding, fulfilling, and profitable. Here I am 4 years later, nearing graduation. It is everything he said it was and much, much more. I am really excited about my future, and best of all, glad it happened at Charity. — Gary Hebert

ABC's to ABG's . . . From teacher to nurse. When I began nursing school I quickly learned that I wasn't really leaving teaching at all! As a nurse there are so many opportunities to help patients and families learn things they need to know about their care. My background in education has been very useful. — Julie Fenger

I have a degree in Fine Arts and English Literature, and have worked as an interior designer and graphic artist. I changed career paths because I have always had an interest in medicine, and wanted to work with people in a helping profession. Nursing offers variety and economic stability. — Shirley Strahan

I worked for UPS for 10 years. Being an Account Executive meant little time at home. I first became interested in a nursing career with the birth of our first child. Through the entire process I was captivated by the dedication, knowledge, and enthusiasm of the nurses. I then decided to attend nursing school. It is hard work but rewarding, and I wish I had chosen nursing years ago. — David Parker

My 12 year old son, Tom couldn't understand why after 23 years as a CPA I wanted to go back to school to be a nurse. I longed for more than financial success; I wanted the satisfaction found in helping people on a more personal level. I have found this in nursing. So that is why, Tom, I've gone back to school. — Cheryl Haulard

I retired from the Louisiana State Police to begin a career in nursing after helping my son investigate career potentials. Positive dealings with ER and Army nurses and the frustration of living on a pension allowed me to overcome fear of the unknown and risk security for a new challenge. — Paul Hamburger

Administration and Staff

Leading the way...

Continued excellence in nursing education cannot take place without dedicated professionals who administer the programs. The history of CHSN is illuminated by the guidance of Directors who charted an individual path that connected with the past and prepared for the future. And so it is today, that Charity Hospital School of Nursing tradition evolves into the Charity-Delgado School of Nursing spirit of excellence under the direction of Sally Cooper, Dean, Doris Burvant, Assistant Dean, and Gayle Barrau, Education Director.

The LAST DIPLOMA GRADUATES of Charity Hospital School of Nursing wave GOOD-BYE!

May 15, 1992

Freshman II

The Legend Lives On . . .

Charity Hospital School of Nursing was transferred to Delgado Community College on July 1, 1990. Charity-Delgado School of Nursing has been approved to offer an associate of science degree program in nursing starting with the Spring semester of 1991. The name Charity was retained because of the rich heritage associated with the school: 6274 graduates over a 98 year period; graduates employed in every aspect of nursing in every state and many foreign countries; and recognition by the National League for Nursing as a program of excellence. The school will retain the excellent educational and clinical facilities, the same qualified faculty, the same pool of applicants, and the same goals for its students: to provide an educational program that will prepare them for nursing practice. Being in a system of higher education, the school will provide a program with 72 hours of college credit transferable to a four year college offering the baccalaureate in nursing. C-DSN becomes the seventh associate degree nursing program in the state, and the first program in the area to be a part of a community college. These students represent a new generation of nurses that will carry on the legacy of Charity nursing.

Lots O' Lagniappe!

*As wonderful as school days are -
So full of dedication and pride -
The best and richest times you'll know
Will come a few years after.
So, close the door behind you now
And, as you turn away,
Review the dreams and plans you've made
And hold them fast today.
Walk proudly as you move along,
Feel young and strong and free,
And let your heart repeat these words -
"The best is yet to be!"*
